An Evolving Vision for the 21st Century School Library
At the start of his tenure as superintendent of one of the largest school systems in the U.S., Superintendent Warren Drake reinstated school librarians in 20 schools and soon thereafter achieved the goal of a school librarian in every building. Learn how and why school librarians fit into Superintendent Drake’s vision for 21st Century Education, and how the district is envisioning the role of school librarians in their plan for two new 21st Century schools.

As part of our Expand Our World Videoconferencing initiative, Superintendent Drake will join us virtually.
